

МЕЖДУНАРОДНА КОНФЕРЕНЦИЯ ЗА Е-ПРАВИТЕЛСТВО

15 - та Международна конференция за е-правителство, организирана от International Federation for Information Processing (IFIP EGOV 2016)

8 - ма Международна конференция за е-участие, организирана от International Federation for Information Processing (IFIP ePart 2016)

5-8 септември 2016, Гимараеш, Португалия

www.egov-conference.org

Целта на колоквиума е да предложи приятна работна и творческа атмосфера на обучение, където ще се застъпи широк обхват на въпроси, съотносими до докторантския опит на участниците. Независимо от предложената обратна връзка на проучваните въпроси, свързани с естеството на работа, теорията, методите и резултатите, колоквиумът цели да се представи мотивацията на студентите-докторанти, техните проучвания, перспективи и бъдещи изводи от работата, практиката и изследователската им гледна точка.

Докторантският колоквиум ще се проведе на много високо интерактивно ниво. Противно на други изследователски конференции участниците няма да представят сами собствените си проучвания. Всеки докторант ще представи тезата на свой колега, като останалите студенти ще поставят въпроси по съответната работа. По този начин всеки участник има възможност да получи обективна обратна връзка за това как е изготвил своята теза, кои са силните и слабите ѝ страни. Освен това, университетски преподаватели ще коментират основните моменти във всяка работа. Този формат представя много високо ниво на ангажираност и комуникация между студенти и преподаватели. За участниците е предвидена и безплатна работна вечеря.

Насърчава се участието на всички студенти в сферата на информационните и комуникационните технологии в публичния сектор.

Допълнителна информация:

Requirements for submissions: Your submission should consist of three parts, namely

- a) a research paper that describes your research,
- b) a short CV and
- c) a personal statement.

The research paper should follow the IFIP EGOV-ePart ongoing research paper template, be single-authored and not exceed 8 pages in total. The CV and personal statement should not exceed two pages. There is no formal format for b and c. The three documents must be merged to one file in the order a, b, c before uploading it to the conference management system.

a) The paper content follows a generic thesis template, including abstract, keywords, introduction with research question, related work, theory, methodology, and preliminary results. To make this colloquium most beneficial for the remaining work on your PhD, we want you to extend your methodology and results sections. In the methodology section, we ask you to elaborate on your motivation, perspective, philosophy, research design, data collection techniques, and analytical framework. In the results section, we ask you to present your preliminary results but furthermore, elaborate on the future impact of your results on practice (for instance recommendations for public sector practitioners) and on research (for instance disclosure of needs for new research areas). We recommend allocating 4 pages to abstract, keywords, introduction, related work and theory and 4 pages to methodology and results.

b) A brief personal CV of your prior education, work experiences, personal interests, leisure time activities, family status etc. The CV is aimed to facilitate curiosity and informal contact with other colloquium participants.

c) Personal statement (approx. 1 page) should include your research motivation, your personal stances related to your research and the future achievements that you hope to realize, whether it's within research, teaching, industry, an NGO etc. This could also include your future visions of global work. Furthermore, your statement should include 2-3 specific questions that you want the colloquium participants to focus on during the presentation of your research.

The submission is done through the main conference website in Easy Chair: <https://easychair.org/conferences/?conf=egov2016>

Your submission will be reviewed by the chairs of the doctoral colloquium and may have to be revised according to review comments before final acceptance and inclusion in the Ongoing Research proceedings. On acceptance, you will receive further instructions for preparing the camera-ready paper, for the PhD colloquium, the draft program and instructions on how to apply for travel expense-related stipends if you desire so.

Applying for a stipend: The PhD Colloquium chairs admit participants to the doctoral colloquium based on a submitted research proposal/contribution. Admitted doctoral students are required to make academic contributions to the doctoral colloquium (no sit-ins only). Admitted doctoral students are also required to make service contributions to the overall conference organization (typically in the amount of four hours per student, for example, for staffing the reception desk or by helping with other aspects of the conference organization). Upon admission as a doctoral student to participate in the colloquium, the conference organization will in return;

- Waive the conference registration fee (exception: the registration fee will not be waived, if an admitted doctoral student is the author or co-author of a regular paper accepted for the conference proceedings);
- Fully cover the expenses for attending the colloquium dinner;

- Fully cover the expenses for attending the conference dinner;

Important dates: <http://www.egov-conference.org/egov-2016/deadlines>

We look forward to welcoming you,

The IFIP EGOV-ePart 2016 PhD Colloquium Co-chairs

Ida Lindgren, Linköping University, Sweden (lead) (email: ida.lindgren@liu.se)

Ramon Gil- Garcia, University at Albany, USA (email: jgil-garcia@ctg.albany.edu)

Anneke Zuiderwijk, TU Delft, The Netherlands (email: a.m.g.zuiderwijk-vaneijk@tudelft.nl)

Further Senior Faculty PhD Colloquium Members

Lawrence Brooks, Brunel University, Uxbridge, UK

Marijn Janssen, TU Delft, The Netherlands

Hans Jochen Scholl, University of Washington, USA

Themis Tambouris, University of Macedonia, Greece

Maria A. Wimmer, University of Koblenz-Landau, Germany